

FCC Certifies Fidelity Comtech's Broadband Wireless Amplified Antenna.

Boulder, Colorado, August 18, 2003: Fidelity Comtech, Inc. has received FCC (Federal Communications Commission) Certification (FCC ID: Q2AFC12400) for the Fidelity Comtech, Inc. FCI-2451 Omni Directional antenna with an embedded one watt bi-directional amplifier. This solution is certified for operation within the US and Canada with Agere Systems radios.

"This compact and rugged apparatus was designed primarily for community broadband centers or hotspots, enhancing the signal quality in both outdoor and indoor applications," said Joe Carey, President of Fidelity Comtech, Inc. "Wireless networking providers find that this integrated device solves transmission issues in campus environments, apartment complexes, multi-tenant dwelling units, hotspots, marina and any other unique networking scenarios where full coverage or mobile access is required "

About Fidelity Comtech, Inc. Products:

The Fidelity Comtech, FCI-2451 is an Omni Directional antenna with an embedded bi-directional amplifier (the FCI-2401). This outdoor ready solution has been successfully implemented in mesh networks, multi-tenant unit opportunities and enterprise networking applications. The amplifier features four adjustable output power settings (100 mW, 250 mW, 500 mW & 1 Watt). Another key feature of this microprocessor-controlled amplifier is the AGC, which provides the capability to sense the input power and automatically maintain the set output power, regardless of cable loss.
